

To all Highshore families,

What a week this has been! We have had many classes continuing to go out on trips all around the community and it has been wonderful celebrating Red Nose Day to end our week. It is easy to forget to find the humour in events at times, but event days like Red Nose Day remind of us of how important it is.

Events like this really celebrate not just our school, but the wider community. We often talk about how important our school community is, but now that our classes are becoming more and more present in the local area it is also a good time to remember how important the shopkeepers, health professionals and those in service industries are – as our students would not have such positive experiences out and about without them.

If you know or work for any local businesses that our students could benefit from visiting, please do contact the school to share any details as we are continually looking for more and more opportunities for our students to participate in.

To finish with and come back to the importance of finding the humour in every situation, here is a joke from Alfie in 14L:

“What do you call a person with no body and no nose?”

“Nobody knows”

Please remember it is an Inset day next Thursday so school will be closed for students.

As always, we love to hear from you, and just a reminder that you can contact our new family support worker Steph on familysupport@highshore.southwark.sch.uk if you need help.

If you have any safeguarding concerns you would like to report please email us on: safeguarding@highshore.southwark.sch.uk.

If you wish to speak to the Headteacher please call us on 0207 708 6790 or 07507803413.

Thanks and have a great weekend,

Sam
